FUTURE OF LEAGUE BELIEVED TO REST ON AFRICAN PEACE

ITALY SENDS MORE TO TROUBLE ZONE

Eden and Laval, in Paris,
Strive To Find Basis
for Settlement of Dispute on African Soil

GENEVA, July 30.—(AP)—With peace in Africa and possibly the future of the League of Nations at stake, statesmen of many nations gathered tonight for tomorrow's extraordinary session of the League of Nations council.

Preparations for efforts here to settle peacefully the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel contrasted sharply with apparent preparations for war.

Italy sent more troops to join the tens of thousands already massed on the Eritrean plateau, while Ethiopia's field army, 10,000 strong, marched away from Addis Ababa, reportedly en route to the front.

League officials said conflict almost was sure to develop around the council table.

Italy, they pointed out, wants to limit discussion sharply, confining the council's procedure to reviving
the Italo-Ethiopian conciliation commission. Britain, on the other hand, desires full investigation of all issues, and may demand forceful League action. Scandinavian states are reportedly determined to seek League protection for small states, such as Ethiopia.

A dispatch from London said the British government's program involved efforts to bring Benito Mussolini to accept economic concessions, instead of armed conquest, of Ethiopia.

While Anthony Eden, Britain's secretary for League affairs, stopped over at Paris to confer with Premier Pierre Laval, expecting to accompany him to Geneva, the Duke sent seven representatives, headed by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Ethiopia's spokesman were already upon the ground.

Eden and Laval were reported trying to find some satisfactory phraseology to cover Ethiopia's eventual submission to Italy, in an eleven-hour effort to avert war. Rome
meanwhile withheld comment on the council's chances for success, but 500 council officers and men sailed from Naples for East Africa.

Eden apparently was slated for the role of "leading man" in tomorrow's drama.

He brought with him the draft of his government's carefully worked out peace program, expected to prove an aide to continuance of the league's current program of handling the African dispute with velvet gloves.

Ethiopian spokesmen, too, were insistent that the council get to the heart of the matter.

Southwest Continues In Grip of Heat Wave

KANSAS CITY, July 30.—(AP)— Summer refuses to budge from the southern states today, but cooler weather routed 100-degree readings in northern states.

A heat death at St. Louis put the unofficial toll from hot weather of the past week at 34 for the central states.

Names of Alleged Liquor Sellers Furnished Sturdivant for Action

Councilman Bridges Gives List of Six Suspects to Chief, Asking Immediate Raids. Committee Chairman
Voices Intent To Purge Force of Grafters.

Names of half a dozen alleged liquor sellers were added to those already in Chief T. O. Sturdivant's hands
when Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, yesterday gave the police chief the new list
in the new drive on liquor vendors and against shakedown and petty graft in the police department.

Bridges handed the list to Sturdivant at an informal conference late yesterday afternoon with a request that they be raided immediately and sales of contraband beverages stopped.

At the same time Bridges announced that "smoke screens" will not be allowed to interfere with the intention of the department to ferret out grafters and shakedown artists or with the determination of the department to dry up the city.

"We cannot cope with crime in Atlanta if we fail to eliminate it from our own department," Bridges said,
"and I am determined that this effort to purge the department of undesirable members, those who have failed to live up to their oaths and enforce the laws, shall succeed."

MONTHLY OUTLAY FOR DIRECT RELIEF CUT $25,000,000

Seasonal Occupations Reduce Number of Dependents; Start Near for Delayed Work Program.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—
Stating that the long-delayed work-relief program finally is about to get under way, the work-relief allotment committee today pared down the sum set aside for direct relief in August to $95,000,000.

With 19,250,000 persons supported wholly or in part by federal funds,
the allotment committee compared with $120,000,000 allowed for June relief and $115,000,000 in July.

Officials said seasonal occupations
were reducing the number on relief.
It was added, however, that Works Progress Administration projects are expected to provide jobs for several hundred thousand during the coming month. At the same time, officials explained that few jobs would be created because 2,500,000 already have work under the relief administration and half of these must be transferred to the new type of projects.

Spending List Drawn.
The National Youth Administration, promised $50,000,000 when it was set up, was put down for $28-000,000 in a $370,056,258 spending list sent to the President's desk. Officials said this would be spent on $6 a month jobs for 250,000 relief family high school students, on $15
a month for 100,000 college students, and $30 a month for 4,000 scholars
doing post-graduate work.

Approval of the program coincided with announcement by Harry L. Hopkins that the relief administration would provide instruction for 2,000-000 adults and jobs for about 400-000 needy teachers in the education program it will resume this fall.

GRAVES DISCOUNTS ALABAMA AMBUSH

New York Writers Seeking Publicity With Story of Attack, He Asserts.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 30.— (AP)—Governor Bibb Graves said tonight that the reported firing on a party of New York writers at Clanton, Ala., was "one of the plainest frame-ups for publicity purposes that ever was perpetrated in Alabama."

The party was en route to Montgomery to oppose approval of an anti-sedition bill.

The Governor issued the statement from the executive mansion early tonight after receiving a report on the alleged shooting from Sheriff J. R.
Hendley, of Chilton county, and Winston Huddleston, solicitor for the circuit that includes Chilton county.

The party of writers reported to Sheriff Hendley that they were fired upon from another car 10 miles from Clanton, and asked for state police protection.

"It's the plainest frame-up for publicity purposes ever perpetrated in Alabama," the Governor declared. "So far as the state is concerned, the whole thing is dismissed as such."

"I had Mr. Huddleston go there and question the people. They didn't know how many men were in the other car.
Didn't know what kind of car it was,
didn't know what color it was," the Governor said. "They said they were fired upon by men who blocked the road."

"They said they were warned in Birmingham they were going to be fired upon when they attempted to come to Montgomery, but that's nothing but a cock and bull story. Not a living person was there."

10,000 Left Homeless By Manchoukio Flood

ANTUNG, Manchoukio, July 30.— (AP)—Ten thousand refugees from typhoon and flood-swept districts sought shelter and food here today,
but no estimate of storm casualties
was available.

The typhoon, described as the severest in years, drove water seven feet deep into the streets in some parts of the city, and 720 men were engaged in rescue work.

Lates' reports from Formosa,
which felt the first fury of the storm,
indicated the damage, though heavy,
would be considerably less than expected, but that communications were disrupted and reports were meager.

Formosa's capital city, Taihoku, was in darkness during the night because the power house was damaged by the wind.

TAX BILL PUSHED TOWARD PASSAGE AS G.O.P. PROTESTS

House Ways and Means Committee in 13-Minute
Session Votes 17 to 7 To Approve Levy Measure.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—
The new $275,000,000 tax bill was rushed today toward house passage through a fire of criticism from republicans and senate democrats.

The house ways and means committee in a 13-minute session formally voted 17 to 7 to approve the bill, introduced only yesterday by Chairman Dougherty, democrat, North Carolina,
after less than four weeks of study.

Plans were made to take it up on the floor for initial debate Thursday and for passage Saturday or Monday.

Immediately, a republican committeeman, Representative Treadway, of Massachusetts, insisted the bill was a surrender to "the President's dictation." He said, too, that it would be a political "boomerang" for the democrats.

Almost simultaneously, however,
democrats on the senate finance committee were objecting to the measure on the ground that it did not adhere to the President's recommendations.

They summoned Secretary Morgenthau, who had no hand in writing the house bill, to "explain" tomorrow
why the measure "discards" the President's suggestions.

Shortly after this summons, Mon-genthau and his financial aides went over the tax program with President Roosevelt. The lengthy White House conference apparently was in preparation for Morgenthau's senate appearance.

The republican criticism materialized into a concerted bombardment tonight with a committee minority report blasting the bill as a "political gesture" that might redistribute poverty instead of wealth and result in heavier burdens on the masses of the people.

Minority report asserted the bill would fail to raise "any appreciable amount of revenue," and insisted that
"the administration has no right to increase the tax burden on either rich or poor until it has first adopted a sane spending program."

The report said expenditures should be brought in line with government income by reducing expenses.

STATE BOARD ASKS U. S. FOR $300,000

Money Sought for Buildings and Repairs at Charitable Institutions.

The state has asked the federal government for approximately $300,000 in relief grants for buildings and repairs at charitable institutions, it was announced yesterday by Chairman E.
E. Lindsey, of the Board of Control.

Mr. Albert M. Hill, secretary of the board, said the "general" program had been submitted to J. H. Houston Johnson, acting state director of the Public Works Administration. Specifications on individual projects, however, have not been completed.

"I have arranged to meet with a federal engineer at the various institutions to go over our needs with him," Mrs. Hill said.

She plans to go to Augusta this week to confer with an engineer of the FERRA on proposals for the Grace-wood School for Mental Defectives. The School of Control wants a laundry, repairs to old buildings and money
enough to complete an unfinished dormitory.

"Gracewood is overcrowded," Lindsey said. "We particularly need a new building."

The largest amount is asked for the Milledgeville State hospital, where Lindsey said he wanted to add 1,500 feet of sewer pipe, repair buildings, concrete bathroom floors, remodel officers' quarters and remodel several heating systems.

At Alto sanatorium $7,000 is asked for a new laundry and repairs to the children's and main buildings.

A gymnasium building, planned for the Academy for the Blind at Macon, other projects contemplated include replacement of bath tubs with showers, new steam boiler and remodeling heating plant, new pianos, new laundry machinery and plumbing repairs.

New Dormitory Needed.
Lindsey said a new dormitory is needed at the school for the deaf at Cave Spring.

"The present negro dormitory is an uncomfortable fire trap," the chairman said.

Fort Boys' Training school, at Milledgeville, the state hopes to erect a workshop, new dairy barns, a new laundry and overhaul present buildings.

The Board of Control, which operates all of Georgia's eleemosynary institutions, has abandoned the idea of moving the state hospital for the deaf to the new site at Cave Spring.
The Girls' Training school could use
another cottage, Lindsey said.

No new projects are planned for the Confederate Soldiers' Home, near Atlanta, where $27,000 was spent last year on repairs. Its grounds are not being landscaped by the FERRA.

Death To Be Sought for 2 Women In Swamp Slaying of Ervin Lang

Investigation in Garroting and Butchery Killing Nearly Completed; Arrest of Chinese Suspect in Crime Expected Soon.

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP)—The state announced today it would demand the death penalty for Mrs. Evelyn Smith, who allegedly confessed she garroted and butchered Ervin Lang for a paltry $500, and for Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, accused purchaser of the killing.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles
S. Dougherty, who reported that Mrs.
Smith, scrawny laundry worker and former burlesque entertainer, had admitted she alone had strangled Lang and cut off his legs, made known the state's intention.

If convicted and given the penalty
Dougherty said would be asked, the two women would be the first of their sex to go to the electric chair in this state.

Dougherty said he will go before the grand jury tomorrow and ask for murder indictments against both women.

"The case is practically closed," said Dougherty. "By the time the indictments are returned, the investigation will be finished."

The gaunt, 47-year-old Mrs. Smith today calmly signed the typewritten record of the alleged confession which had been prepared while she slept.

Dougherty refused to make public
the text of the document. He said, however, that Mrs. Smith admitted strangling Lang to death with a knotted rope and cutting off his legs with a butcher knife and a hacksaw.

After the killing, Mrs. Smith and her Chinese husband, Harry Jung, disposed of the body in a swamp near Hammond, Ind., the prosecutor said.
Mrs. Smith told him.

The alleged confession was made nine hours after Mrs. Smith arrived at 4:30 p. m. (central daylight time) by airplane from New York yesterday.

Her only consideration, Mrs. Smith was said to have confessed, was the promise of $500 for the killing. Mrs.
Dunkel, she related, agreed to pay her that amount, but she received nothing. Mrs. Dunkel was quoted as insisting she paid $100 of it.

Dougherty said he expected the arrest of Jung soon. He asked that the inquest be delayed until the Chinese is taken into custody.

CONGRESSMEN ASK
FOR MORE BRIDGES

Federal Authorities Denounced by Federated Motor Clubs for Withholding Georgia's Funds

Georgia's highway controversy continued to rock the state yesterday as the warfare flared anew on several fronts but the deadlock remained unbroken despite a series of sensational developments.

Outstanding events of the day were:
Calling for bids on $1,000,000 worth of paving, grading and bridge projects by the state highway board, $700,000 worth of which are to be located in Representative Carl Vin-son's sixth congressional district.

The request made to Washington
by the Georgia Municipal Association, through Mayor T. D. Ashley, of Valdosta, as president and Mayor Zach Arnold, of Fort Gaines, as secretary, for release of the 25 per cent of the state's tied up $19,000,000 which is to go for street improvements within city limits.

Increasing demands for bridges on the part of the state's congressmen, Representatives Cox, Castellow, Deen
and Brown demanding certain bridge projects of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

A ringing denunciation of the action of Washington authorities in continuing to withhold the state's funds from the Georgia Federation of Motor Clubs through W. F. Shipman, of Augusta, chairman of the association.

A statement by Editor Charles Bountree, of the Wrightsville Headlight, that the Johnson county people's fight for the Bull's Ferry bridge would go on despite the announcement of several paving projects in the area by the highway board.

$1,000,000 Contracts Awarded.
The call for bids on the new projects
was issued by Chairman W. E.
Wilburn of the highway board following an action by the state which was marked by the awarding of contracts for nearly $1,000,000 worth of work on which bids were received several weeks ago.

As the call went forth the highway board announced that a $280,000 project, the paving of 20 miles on what is known as the Macon-Cochran short route in Bleckley county was added to the list. This paving will begin at the northern limits of the city of Cochran.

night.

Three-year-old Robert Bischoff was the sole occupant of the machine to escape with his life.

The dead were Robert's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Raeburn E. Bischoff; their three daughters, one a granddaughter and a woman less closely kin.

The party was returning from a trip to Flag when the car went out of control on a steep, winding road.

Officer Tries to Enlist Their Husbands; Pennsylvania
Pastor Runs Afoul of 117-Year-Old Law.

BOSTON, July 30.—(AP)—The threatened war between Italy and Ethiopia had a repercussion in Boston today as one man was stabbed in a street battle.

Hostilities broke out as a self-styled recruiting officer for a purported Ethiopian foreign legion, waving a handbill, approached two negro women on the street and tried to sell them the idea of their husbands' fighting for Ethiopia.

The women showed such a burst of anti-war feeling that their husbands, bringing up the rear, piled into the "recruiting officer" without further ado, police said.

Clarence Jefferson, 36, one of the husbands and prospective recruits, wound up in a hospital on the danger list. The Rev. Luther F. Davis, negro pastor, abandoned his efforts today to recruit an army of his own race to fight for Ethiopia in the event of war with Italy.

He had enrolled 200, but was forced to give up after learning of a 117-year-old law which prohibits Americans from serving in foreign armies under penalty of fine, imprisonment and loss of citizenship.

The negro minister commented that "it seems strange that they have just discovered this law at this time and forgot about it so easily during the World War when many Americans enlisted in the Lafayette Escadrille and other foreign armies."

Police were seeking the "recruiting officer."

soul, not even myself, knew of their intentions to come here today, so how could they be threatened?

"They asked for a police escort for their car and I gave instructions for the request to be denied, for they will get no further publicity out of that stunt if I can help it."

At Clanton, after several hours of investigation and failure to find a lead, Sheriff Hardy late today announced he had abandoned the investigation.

Sheriff Hardy said the members of the party, five writers from New York representing the National League for Defense of Political Prisoners, could give no help other than to say they were fired on.

The party including Crawford, Miss Shirley Hopkins, of Truro, Mass.; Alfred Hirsch, of New York; Emmett Gowan, of La Verne, Tenn.; and Jack Conroy, of Moberly, Mo., had spent yesterday in Birmingham, where Crawford and Miss Hopkins picked the Birmingham city hall selling lib-den liquor cache. Another raid on Hayden street drew a blank.

Patrolman C. W. Mauldin, under suspension on a charge of drunkenness and shooting another as a result of the wounding of L. C. Brewer in a Fair street cafe several nights ago, probably will not face the committee at Thursday night's session since his trial in recorder's court, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed. He will ask a continuance, it was indicated late yesterday, in order that he will not be forced to face the committee before the police court trial.

Two members of the department, R. C. Tuglie, patrolman, and E. F. Wise, a supernumerary, are slated to face the committee Thursday night on charges of having engaged in "shakedown."

The committee also expects to probe reports that a city-owned automobile, assigned to Captain Jack Malcom, head of the traffic bureau, was damaged while at Malcom's river camp.

HAILE SELASSIE CONFIDENT OF BORDER TRIBES.

ADDIS ABABA, July 30.—(UP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today denounced Rome reports that his border tribes may desert him if Italian legions invade Ethiopia. "Ethiopia has a new and completely unified frontier," the conquering lion said. "The tribes can be depended upon to resist aggression."

Meanwhile, Addis Ababa police guarded against disorders when shopkeepers struck in protest against the emperor's decree pegging the Maria Theresa dollar at 13.50 to the pound sterling (giving it a value of 37 cents).

The emperor invited European economic co-operation, but reiterated that Ethiopia will fight always for her independence.

"Ethiopia prefers to prosper with European guidance instead of remaining poor with complete independence," he said. "European influence, however, must be purely economic, unaccompanied by political aspirations."

Somali chiefs reported that Italian Miijerten Somalis are entering British African territory to escape Italian officials recruiting them for labor corps service.

The Maria Theresa dollar, all bearing the date 1780 and struck in Austria, is the only coin in general use in Ethiopia. The late Emperor Menelik tried to establish a new unit of currency in 1894, but it never reached general use. In wide stretches of the country, no coins at all are in use, the natives accepting cartridges, salt and other commodities in payment of their products of labor.

AMERICANS GET TERMS
AS SPIES IN DENMARK

COPENHAGEN, July 30.—(AP)—Mystery today shrouded the espionage case against George Mink and Nicholas Sherman, who claim American citizenship, although the Danish appeal court sent them to prison for 18 months and ordered their deportation thereafter.

The court limited its announcement to the fact that they were sentenced to upwards of 20 families which already have left to return to the United States, had threatened they would leave also if Irwin was not retained.

Irwin, who headed the experimental farm conducted in the Matanuska valley by the Alaska University and the government, was one of the first executives on the ground before the colonists came north.

He has taken a farm of his own, on which he and his family plan to live. His official position now is head of the colony's farm division.

bottom of the dispute, instead of limiting itself to discussion of the causes of the conflict and resurrection of the conciliation commission, which collapsed recently at Scheveningen, the Netherlands. Most Geneva sources agree near revival of the commission would lead nowhere.

Though the Italo-Ethiopian issues overshadowed everything else, early arrivals had these other developments to discuss.

1. Czechoslovak circles indicated that nation would grasp the opportunity to press for early convocation of the proposed Danubian conference, believing it should be held before the Italo-Ethiopian dispute grew more acute. A new basis was said to have been reached whereby minorities instead of signing mutual assistance pacts, would agree not to help any aggressor.

2. The Journal of the German Association for League Questions predicted Russia and Rumania soon would come to an agreement permitting soviet planes to fly over Rumania toward Germany in case of war.

ITALY PUSHES PLANS
TO TRANSPORT TROOPS

ROME, July 30.—(AP)—Italy, confidently awaiting results at Geneva, pushed plans tonight to expand her transport of troops to Ethiopia by seizing the right to requisition government-owned ships.

The official Gazette published a royal decree authorizing the government to take over such vessels. The decree was made retroactive to January 1.

It came as more soldiers and officers sailed for East Africa, on the eve of tomorrow's opening of the League of Nations conference to consider the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

La Tribuna, Rome newspaper, described the government's attitude as one of "arch-security" that the society of nations in no way injure decision which are exclusively reserved for Italy in its problems with Ethiopia.

The paper suggested further: "Because of this arch-security, it may be the moment has arrived to consider whether this is the time for the Italy to make a move to liberate Europe from the weighty and stupid mistake which is the League of Nations."

While 500 more soldiers and officers sailed from Naples for east Africa, the controller of the Italian navy, the departure of six of Italy's seven representatives for Geneva.

On the other hand, the press gave much space to reports of stern measures against rumor mongers in Italian east Africa and published editorial emphasizing the "uselessness" of the "pompous" British delegation's prospective activities at Geneva to try to preserve peace.

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP)—Court action to compel the city to grant him a masseur's license was planned tonight by Earl W. Kress, 37, German World War veteran, as Mayor F. H. LaGuardia reiterated his contention that German aliens have no standing under the 1925 commercial treaty.

Kress, who has been struggling to keep off the relief rolls, said several attorneys had volunteered their services.

"I am going to court, if necessary, to win the masseur's license that Mayor LaGuardia refused me because I am a German," he said.

LaGuardia, asserting his attitude toward Kress was unchanged, said: "Naturally, when he becomes an American citizen the aspect of the situation is changed in so far as he is concerned."

The mayor suggested, however, that Kress may have jeopardized his standing in the naturalization courts by appealing to the German consulate for help.

Rattlesnake Is Killed,
But, Oh, the AftermathEXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo.,
July 30.—(AP)—The rattlesnake in Aunt Mary Michall's house is dead, but his death appeared tonight as a reptilian victory.

Orville Cox, 18-year-old grandson of "Aunt Mary," dispatched the snake today and this is how:

Following the sound of the rattle, young Cox took up the entire front porch, plank by plank.

Then he attacked the side of the house and tore off four planks before he found the rattler. A hasty thrust with a pitchfork only irritated the snake, so Orville blazed away with both barrels of the family shotgun. The snake died, about half the wall disappeared. Aunt Mary's cupboard, sitting just inside, was demolished and every dish the family owned was broken.

U. S. TAKES STAND
FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—Taking direct official cognizance of current Nazi activities against Jews and Catholics, the State Department today spoke out for "religious freedom and liberty."

Continental diplomatic officials acted upon a formal German protest against an alleged insult to a Nazi flag, stripped by a mob from the liner Bremen in New York harbor. Upon receipt of the protesting note from the German embassy, the department relayed its content to Governor Lehman, of New York.

Immediately came word from Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, that those involved in the flag incident "will be prosecuted."

German government formally protested against what it termed a serious insult to the German national emblem in a note delivered at the State Department by Dr. Rudolph Leinert, German charge d'affaires, acting under instruction from the Berlin foreign office.

The department did not make public the text of the note it was learned authoritatively that it requested the American authorities to make every effort to insure that the anti-Nazi flag be punished.

It was learned also that the note did not demand an official apology.

TAX MEASURE PUSHED
FOR PASSAGE IN HOUSE

and not entirely by increasing taxes. Representative Knutson, absent from the capital, was the only minority committee member who did not sign the report.

Parker Questioned.

The senate committee questioned at length Lowell H. Parker, chief of staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue, who helped house democratic committeemen draft the bill.

First, the senators wanted to know why the house committee had virtually discarded the President's suggestion of a graduated tax on corporation incomes. Parker replied he assumed the President favored the excess profits levy instead of one on corporation incomes because it thought that a "better test of ability to pay."

Next, the senators wondered why the house bill jacked up surtaxes on all incomes over $50,000 instead of $100,000. Parker, asserting the President had used $100,000 as an "example," replied that "no substantial revenue can be obtained by graduating surtaxes from $100,000 up."

Measure Hilt.

"Apparently congress and its committee is no longer a deliberative or representative body," Treadway said. "The ways and means committee was instructed on June 19 by a message to congress to favor the excess profits levy instead of one on corporation incomes because it thought that a 'better test of ability to pay.'"

The fact that republican committeemen had less than two days to study the bill before the vote today, Treadway added, this course was "in keeping with the dictatorial edict from the White House," and was "presumptuous."

A democratic committeeman, Representative Fuller, of Arkansas, retorted that "the democrats are willing to accept the responsibility of drafting the legislation."

President Defended.

"The President had nothing to do with any rate placed in the bill," he added. "Nobody did except the committee and its legislative staff."

Some observers read significance into another development in the senate finance committee hearing. Senator Connally, democrat, Texas, is advocating the restoration of wartime tax rates on excess profits.

The house bill levies a tax of 5 percent on 8 to 12 percent profits on the adjusted declared value of capital. The tax ranges to 20 percent of the part of the profit over 25 percent.

Connally's schedule would invest capital rather than declared capital value as the base and put a 20 percent tax on profits from 8-25 percent with a 40 percent tax on all profits over 28 percent.

Parker reported such rates produced $2,000,000,000 a year during the wartime boom and $335,000,000 in the 1921 depression. The house rates would raise only about $100,000,000.

JOHN ROBINSON PASSES AT HOME IN CINCINNATI

Throat Ailment Is Fatal to Former Circus Owner, Card Firm Official.

CINCINNATI, July 30.—(AP)—John G. Robinson, 62, who until 1916 carried on the circus established by his family 100 years ago, died at his home here today.

After disposing of his circus interests in 1916, he was secretary of the United States Playing Card Company here. His death was due to a throat ailment.

His illness interrupted plans of his son to revive the family's circus interests, building a new show around three of the four elephants his father retained after leaving the road.

The "John Robinson Combined Shows," established by his grandfather, Robinson learned circus management from his grandfather and his father and carried on until 1916. Then, though he disposed of animals and wagons, he kept the four famous Robinson military elephants, whose drills had delighted thousands.

"Little," most famous of the four, died soon after the age of 110 years, and hundreds flocked to the public funeral here. Her three companions were kept at times at the Cincinnati zoo and at the Robinson farm in the suburbs.

The new circus is to be built around the three—Tony, Pitt, and Clara—now performing in Cleveland. Robinson is survived by his widow, his son, John Robinson, IV, and a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Nevins, Cincinnati.

FRANK WARREN. SALISBURY, Md., July 30.—(AP)—Frank Warren, well-known artist, succumbed at the age of 68 years to injuries received in a collision of his automobile and a railroad train at Girdlewood last Friday.

Warren, a native of New York state, spent most of his life in Philadelphia, but traveled extensively in the United States and Central America in search of subject matter for his murals and landscapes.

Some of his murals are in churches in Philadelphia, Albany, N. Y.; Montreal and San Diego. His work has been exhibited at galleries in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Several years ago he built a palatial home, The Forest, near here where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in the near-by Nassawango cemetery. Eight children, all high school teachers, survive.

REPRESENTATIVE C. S. HARRIS. WEST POINT, Miss., July 30.—(AP)—C. S. Harris, 74, died on the speakers' platform late today at Pine Bluff community near here while appearing in the behalf of his candidacy for the state house of representatives. Friends said he had been feeling ill for some time, and his death was thought due to overexertion. He was running for re-election.

For seven years an opus at South Georgia State College has patrolled a part of the girls' campus which he considers his own, chasing off trespassers.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN THREE-WAY CRASH
Three persons were injured in a triple auto crash at Glenwood avenue and Candler road, Decatur, yesterday morning.

J. L. Whittier, Atlanta policeman and former chief of the DeKalb county police, suffered minor injuries when his automobile overturned after colliding with an automobile driven by Mrs. S. T. King, of 82 Douglas street.

Mrs. King's automobile, out of control, crashed into the automobile of Victor Verdi, of 147 Superior street, and pinned J. W. Aiken, of McAfee road, between the Verdi car and his own automobile, parked ahead of Verdi's car in a filling station at that intersection. Aiken suffered minor leg injuries.

Ernie King, 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. King, received lacerations of the arm in the crash.

ATTACK DIARY BARRED IN TRIAL OF THOMPSON

Witness Tells of Boast of Man Accused in Slaying of Hostess.

PEORIA, Ill., July 30.—(AP)—The lurid story of Gerald Thompson was barred from evidence late today and the defense rested in his trial for ravishing and slaying pretty Mildred Hallmark, 19, cafeteria hostess.

Possibility that the diary—which authorities said gave detailed accounts of attacks upon 16 other girls—would be introduced had resulted in a jammed courtroom as spectators fought to get to the hearing.

The defense, seeking to prove the youthful toolmaker was insane, asked that the little black book be admitted to bear out contentions of witnesses that Thompson was a sexual maniac.

State's Attorney Edwin Champion objected on the ground that it was immaterial and "merely an account of sexual depravity." Judge Joseph Daily sustained his objection.

Thompson's attorney, Ren Thurman, put several witnesses on the stand to testify they believe the young mechanic is a madman.

"He was always talking about women, and sometimes described his methods," Samuel Sprinkle, of Morton, Ill., one of Thompson's fellow workmen, told the jury. "I heard him tell how he twisted their arms."

"He told me," said Sprinkle, "that during the year he intended to pick up 52 girls—one a week—and keep a record of it."

John Manias, who testified for the state Monday, refused to give testimony that Thompson was insane.

In his previous testimony Manias told how he had seen a man pick up a girl in his car on the spot where Thompson confessed he met Miss Hallmark, comely, auburn-haired cafeteria hostess and convent-school graduate, on the night of June 16.

Her battered semi-nude body was found the next morning in a cemetery ditch. Thompson was arrested several days later.

NEGRO GANG ESCAPER IS APPREHENDED HERE
Cornered and harried at every turn as he twisted and doubled through the city streets seeking escape from bloodhounds and the police, an escaped convict early yesterday morning was rearrested at Pryor street and Georgia avenue as he waited dejectedly on the corner.

Noah Stallard, 10, 6-foot 3-inch negro convict, fled from the South Fulton chain gang camp Monday afternoon. He was not in stripes, but became a marked man through his inability to remove his shackles.

Throughout the night the dogs followed his trail and radio cars were close behind throughout his flight, until finally he stood quietly and allowed officers to take him into custody.

Praises Business Here

WALTER H. ROLAPP.

BUILDING PROGRESS SHOWN BY ATLANTA
Investors Syndicate Official Praises Local Real Estate Interests of City.

Atlanta real estate men have dealt the depression a long-armed punch and the city is showing more progress in building and renting houses than any other in this section or along the Pacific coast, Walter H. Rolapp, vice president of the Investors Syndicate, of Minneapolis, Minn., said here yesterday.

"I am delighted with the real estate business here," said Mr. Rolapp, who is here in conference with Hugh Denman, president, and D. W. Watson, manager, of the Jefferson Mortgage Company, local agent for the Investors Syndicate.

For several months Mr. Rolapp has been investigating real estate conditions in cities on the Pacific coast, in Texas and in the southeast.

Mr. Rolapp said that many Atlanta homes would compare favorably as residential show places with those of any other city in the United States. He attributed Atlanta's progress in real estate to the diversified economic interests of the city and the building restrictions required by the civic leagues in the residential sections.

7 HELD IN ARKANSAS FOR COUNTERFEITING
TEXARKANA, Ark., July 30.—(AP)—Seven men, including three negroes, were arrested here today by federal agents who announced confiscation of more than $1,200 in counterfeit $10 bills. Officers said the arrests culminated an investigation launched last Friday.

Federal Agent John C. Marsh, of Memphis, said charges of possession and sale of counterfeit money would be filed against seven persons he described as Jack Rachel, Roy Towles, Alvin Anderson, Camden; Inas Scott, Smackover; Gus Freeman, Garland; Theodore McHugh, Alonzo Brown and K. C. Cunningham, the latter three negroes.

OFFICERS GIVEN RIGHT TO BAN CHAIN LETTERS

JACKSON, Miss., July 30.—(AP)—Jackson police were free today to step in and stop the operation of a "chain letter" office here if it is reopened. Federal Judge John McDuffie, of Mobile, Ala., dismissed a temporary injunction in federal district court here yesterday restraining the local police from interfering with the operation of the office, which closed last week "for lack of business."

The injunction had been granted by Judge Rufus E. Foster in New Orleans at the behest of attorneys for N. C. Mueller, of Wichita, Kan., operator of the chain letter office, who had been arrested here on a charge of aiding and abetting a gambling game.

HOUSE VOTES SPEED IN ARMY PROMOTIONS

Only Minor Amendment
Now To Be Acted On by Senate Members.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—A measure to accelerate army officer promotions swept through the house today over a vigorous one-man campaign to throttle it.

It was returned to the senate for action on an amendment to make the legislation effective on the first of the month following enactment rather than as of July 1. Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, author of the bill, said he would ask the senate to accept this amendment tomorrow and speed it to the White House.

This change was the only one Representative Hoepfel, democrat, California, succeeded in getting in the bill. Calling the measure "putrid, rancid and criminal," he assailed it as a raid on the treasury and as discriminatory against enlisted men and warrant officers of the army.

But the house gave it a 220-to-99 vote of approval. Blocked by the War Department as capable of relieving stagnation that for 15 years has blocked advancement of thousands of officers brought into the army during and immediately after the World War, the measure would provide immediate promotion for 4,918 out of 10,460 officers on the promotion list.

All other officers on the list under the rank of colonel would be accelerated two to eight years toward the next higher rank. While designed to benefit every officer from second lieutenants to lieutenant colonels, it will be of chief assistance to captains and first and second lieutenants. Supporters of the bill claimed the government would benefit in increased efficiency and improved morale.

Representative Hill, democrat, Alabama, said that instead of costing $11,000,000 or $12,000,000 a year as charged by Hoepfel, the new promotion plan would increase expenditures but $700,000 the first year, $600,000 the second, $500,000 the third and so on down.

Child-Beaters Ordered To Leave State 2 Years

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 30.—(AP)—Harry J. Rogers, 37, and his wife, Jean, 19, convicted child-beaters, today were under a promise to the court here to leave the state and stay away two years.

Jail sentences imposed upon them, after they changed their minds about taking a public whipping instead, were suspended by Police Court Judge Reese Duncanson after the couple gave the promise that they would get out of the state two years. Gregory had been sentenced to serve 12 months in jail and his wife was sentenced to serve 60 days.

The whipping of little Rose Mary, three and a half years old, whom they had taken from the Washington orphanage, attracted wide attention several weeks ago.

14 'BUG' OPERATORS ARE INDICTED HERE

Three Negroes Named in True Bills for Murder
by Grand Jury.

Fourteen persons were indicted for lottery offenses, and three negroes were named in true bills charging murder yesterday by the Fulton county July-August grand jury.

The "bug" operators were arrested in the last two weeks by the special lottery squad officers Vaughan, Anderson and Whitaker.

Named in the bills were Jane DeVore, Mrs. Rose Smith, Walter Jones, James Janolis, and Roy McElroy, all white. The remainder of the 14 were negroes. They were charged variously with possession of lottery paraphernalia and with operating the "number" racket.

Joseph Ellis, negro, charged with murdering Paul Tucker in a fist fight, was freed in a no bill by George Thomas, negro, was indicted for stabbing Louis Dickerson to death July 28, and William Lassiter, negro, was named in a true bill charging him with shooting Walker Thurmond to death July 20. Willie Pounds, negro, was indicted for the murder of James Walters July 14.

Eddie Owens and Myrtle Owens, alias Coleman and Popham, were named in true bills charging them with the murder of J. C. Fontenberry, who lost $148 worth of watermelons.

GEORGIA MAYORS AID ANTI-RED BODY

J. D. Ashley Praises Work of Community American-can Committee.

The Georgia Mayors' Association will throw the weight of its organization back of the community American committee in its fight on communism, Captain A. L. Henson, executive secretary of the committee, said last night he had been notified by J. D. Ashley, mayor of Valdosta, and president of the mayors' group.

The committee was organized about three months ago and is composed of members of fraternal and patriotic organizations of Atlanta. The fight of the committee on communism was highly praised by James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who congratulated the organization on its activities when he talked to Henson while passing through Atlanta yesterday, Henson said.

Ashley told Henson, he said, that the mayors' association was intensely interested in the dissemination of information relative to communist propaganda and in the question of racial equality.

FRANK COFFEE BACKED FOR LABOR BOARD JOB

The name of Frank Coffee, of Atlanta, yesterday was formally presented to President Roosevelt for appointment to the new National Labor Board by Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta.

The appointment of Mr. Coffee, now secretary of the Atlanta Regional Labor Board, previously has been urged by Senator Walter F. George and Marion Smith, of Atlanta, chairman of the regional board.

In urging the appointment yesterday, Congressman Ramspeck informed the President the Atlantian was acceptable to both employers and employees. The President is expected to name the board soon.

HEARING SET TODAY ON UNIVERSITY FUND

The suit of A. Steve Nance and other labor leaders to enjoin permanently payment of a special appropriation of $1,000,000 to the board of regents of the university system will be up for hearing before Judge E. E. Pomeroy in Fulton superior court this morning. The payment was temporarily enjoined by Judge Virlyn B. Moore two weeks ago.

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton and Comptroller General William B. Harrison are the technical defendants in the case.

The plaintiffs claim the appropriation cannot be paid because general appropriations are being reduced and the law provides that no special appropriation is legal unless general appropriations are paid in full.

U. S. EMPLOYEES TO HEAR RAMSPECK IN ADDRESS

Congressman Robert Ramspeck, of this district, and Luther C. Stewart, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, will address all federal employees of Atlanta at 8 o'clock next Friday night on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Stewart is chairman of the national legislative council of federal employees organizations, in addition to being head of the largest organization of government-employed persons. Atlanta ranks fifth in the United States in the number of government workers and Mr. Stewart's speech is expected to attract a large attendance Friday night, it was said.

Congressman Ramspeck is chairman of the house of civil service committee which deals with legislation affecting government employees.

3 KILLED EVERY HOUR IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

CHICAGO, July 30.—(UP)—Motor vehicle deaths in the United States were reduced 2.4 per cent during the first six months of the year, but the toll is still so heavy three persons meet violent death on the highways each hour.

Lives lost totaled 15,030 from January 1, 1935, to July 1, the survey of the National Safety Council issued today said, 370 less than for the same period a year ago.

Estimates for the entire year place the total at 35,000.

88-YEAR-OLD WOMAN IS ROBBED OF RINGS

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Leon Schotland, 88 years old, was robbed of two diamond rings today by a man whom she had given $1 a few minutes earlier on the plea that he was penniless and hungry.

Mrs. Schotland was beaten about the head and face by the intruder, who forced his way into her Bronx apartment.

BOND LEADERS PLAN COMMITTEE OF 1,300

Education Board To Meet
Friday and Revamp Requests for Schools.

James H. Ewing and Mrs. George Ripley yesterday prepared to name a committee of 1,300 leading Atlantians to aid the "get-out-the-vote" drive for the $1,775,000 bond issue for sewer and school improvements as Ernest Brewer, president of the Atlanta Board of Education, called a special meeting for Friday night to consider revamping the requests for schools.

Brewer's action was taken following a meeting of the federal aid committee yesterday at the city hall, at which time he was requested to call the board into session beginning at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the city council chamber.

Just what additions are contemplated was yet undetermined, but Thomas C. Clift, school business manager, said he already had prepared a list of the needs of the schools. That list was abandoned because it asked the city to put up $3,500,000, to which it was expected that the federal government would add another $3,500,000.

Ewing plans to ask members of council to suggest the names of 100 citizens from each of the city's 13 wards to act as a committee on the bond issue.

The finance committee yesterday voted to recommend that $2,980 be set up at Monday's session with which to hold the election. That was the only definite action of the council.

George S. Lowman is chairman of the federal aid committee, and George Garner, Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, Louis Gelfen and Ed S. Cook are other members.

Edgar Neely, president of the Atlanta Taxpayers' league, yesterday addressed a letter to Mayor Key expressing disappointment at the progress made by a special commission named to consider consolidation of various governmental departments.

He also urged Fulton county to aid in the sewer construction program, and asked Key what plans have been evolved to amortize the bonds if they are approved.

LINDER HITS DELAY
IN WEED LAW TEST

Warehousesmen Should Not
Have Waited for Season
Opening, Says Official.

Tom Linder, state commissioner of agriculture, yesterday criticized tobacco-warehousemen for making no effort to test validity of Georgia's regulatory bill "until just before the opening of the tobacco market."

Enforcement of the 1935 law, which fixes maximum fees warehousemen may charge leaf growers for auctioning, has been enjoined temporarily in United States district court at Macon.

"This law was passed by the legislature early in the year," said Linder, in a signed editorial written for this week's issue of the Market Bulletin. "Tobacco warehousemen knew about this law and opposed it when it was pending in the legislature."

Similar laws, the commissioner continued, are in effect in both South and North Carolina. Georgia's law fixed the same fees in force in South Carolina, where, Linder said, the warehouses have registered no official cost.

CRAMER DENIES PART IN BOOK ON NUDISM

Name Used in Foreword
Without Knowledge, Senate Committee Told.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—An illustrated book on nudism was waved in front of Lawrence W. Cramer, newly appointed Governor of the Virgin Islands, today by a member of the senate territories committee debating over his confirmation.

"Do you believe in nudism?" asked Senator Metcalf of the 37-year-old former lieutenant governor of St. Croix, who recently was named by President Roosevelt to succeed Dr. Paul M. Pearson.

"No, sir, I do not," came the emphatic answer.

"Then why is your name mentioned in the foreword of the book?" Metcalf asked, amid general laughter.

Cramer, asked by Senator Tydings' territories committee to appear in defense of his qualifications as Governor, said he could explain that.

"I have known the people who wrote that book for many years," he said in a clear voice. "They went to Europe to write about labor conditions and on their return they stayed at my apartment in New York, and wrote the book there, without asking my consent for the use of our names."

The foreword was read into the record by Senator Metcalf. Signed by Frances and Mason Merrill, authors of the book "Among the Nudists," it said:

"We wish to express our gratitude to John T. Flynn, for invaluable advice regarding our manuscript and to (Mrs.) Aline and Lawrence Cramer for assistance and for moral encouragement in facing the disapproval of this scandalous public confession."

"The only thing we did," said Cramer, "was to criticize the philosophy that people could fix up the world by taking their clothes off. I never ignored the book."

He said he was "not a nudist, never had been a nudist, never want to be."

Amid more general laughter the subject was dropped.

TWO ATLANTA BOYS ENTER WEST POINT

Five Other Georgians Also Sworn in as Cadets at Army School.

Two Atlantans and five other Georgians have recently been sworn in as cadets at the United States Military Academy and assigned to companies by Major General W. D. Connor, superintendent, it was learned yesterday.

Benjamin M. Bailey Jr., son of Colonel and Mrs. Benjamin M. Bailey, of 1371 Peachtree street, N. E., and Joseph R. Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Reeves, of 307 Second avenue, S. E., are the two Atlanta cadets.

Other Georgia cadets include Allen A. Crockett, son of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Cary I. Crockett, of Fort McPherson; William J. Henry, son of Major and Mrs. William J. Henry, of Fort McPherson; Charles M. Mount Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Mount, of College Park; Irvine H. Shriver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Shearer, of Alapaha, and Welborn G. Dolvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Dolvin, of Siliam. President Roosevelt appointed Reeves to West Point. Cadet Henry won his appointment through a competitive examination while a member of the 22d infantry regiment at Fort McPherson. There are 514 men in the class recently sworn in as cadets.

FURTHER QUIZ PLANNED FOR SPRULL WOMAN

Further questioning of Nattie Sprull, of Central avenue, held in a solicitor-general's office investigation of the death of N. E. Neely, former Techwood project employe, is planned in an effort to determine the identity of a man who spent the day of July 1 with Neely and two women, according to Assistant Solicitor John Hudson.

Police yesterday were seeking the second woman in the case, whose name is known, Hudson announced. Neely's headless body was found July 4 on a railroad embankment off the Bankhead highway. A shotgun was found under his body with one shell discharged. Physicians told officers he had been dead for several days when found.

A blood-stained piece of iron pipe, found near the place where Neely's body was found led to further investigation of the death after a coroner's jury had rendered a verdict of suicide.

PROBATION IS SOUGHT FOR CONVICTED WOMAN

Judge E. E. Pomeroy yesterday deferred passing sentence on Irene Head, convicted of possessing burglar tools, until Friday while her case is being investigated by a probation officer.

The young woman, who is mother of a small child, was found guilty by a jury in Fulton county superior court Monday, and it was recommended that Judge Pomeroy treat her offense as a misdemeanor.

George Allen Maddox, county probation officer, was instructed by Judge Pomeroy to determine if probation is justified in this case. The woman was arrested in a west side house at the same time Joe Randall, escaped convict, was captured. Her brother-in-law, Fred Head, was in the house at the same time, and is scheduled to be tried today on possession of burglar tools also.

TENANTS OF TECHWOOD TO COME FROM SLUMS

D. A. Calhoun, district manager, PWA, yesterday, reiterated the attitude of the federal government regarding tenants for Techwood and University housing projects.

He asserted that tenants will be chosen from "those of the low income groups now dwelling in slums," and recited statements of Harold L. Jokes, secretary of the interior, and Colonel Horatio R. Hackett, assistant administrator of public works to substantiate his attitude in the matter.

Calhoun said he had been misquoted in previous statements to the effect that the government had revised its policy in the matter.

COUNTY HEALTH BOARD DROPS DR. FRANK WELLS

Dr. Frank Wells, for 12 years a member of the Fulton county board of health, was dropped from that body yesterday by the July-August grand jury, and Dr. T. Edling Gay was selected to fill the vacancy.

Dr. Gay's appointment becomes effective August 3, when Dr. Wells' present term expires. Dr. Wells, brother of Jere Wells, county school superintendent who is also a member of the health board, has served three four year terms. Dr. C. R. Adams, as chairman of the county commission, is the third board member.

FISHER BODY MAN HERE FOR CONTEST

Gilbert Treweek, Chief
Judge, To Arrange for Picking Winner.

Realization that manual skill improves the chances of success for youths entering industry led to the formation of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, according to Gilbert Treweek, chief judge of the apprentice class competition being sponsored by the educational foundation in this region.

Mr. Treweek, a shop teacher at Mackenzie High school in Detroit, Mich., arrived here late yesterday to complete arrangements for the judging of the model traveling coaches constructed by boys residing in Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, to be held at the central branch of the Y. M. C. A.

"A competition of the sort we are bringing to a close tomorrow at midnight has many advantages," Mr. Treweek states. "The boys, of course, enter it in the hope of winning one of the 16 cash awards offered in each state and possibly a trip to the Guild convention, which will be in Quebec this year. They seek the immediate return and it is just as well, for most youths shy at anything that is outwardly educational."

"The traveling coach is for the youth with little natural aptitude or training. It is designed to teach him the use of tools and to prepare him for entry in the master class competition, in which the participants build the more ornate Napoleonic model. The winners of this competition receive $5,000 university scholarships as awards."

Recognition as an outstanding educational foundation today is being accorded the unique organization, which is sponsored by General Motors through its Fisher Body division, according to Mr. Treweek. He cites the fact that more than 2,000 secondary schools throughout the country have approved its activity, and that many of them give curricular credit to those undertaking the model coach-building project.

MOVEMENT OF COTTON IN TEXAS THREATENED

Gunners' Injunction Against Bankhead Tags May Tie Up Crop.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—Cotton gunners who enjoined the issuance of Bankhead tags required for movement of cotton face the alternative of suspending the court order or going out of business, members of the Texas cotton advisory committee reported today.

Farm members in conversations with AAA officials formulated a plan to press their fight against the gunners' action, which they say may tie up much of the Texas cotton crop.

"The gunners can either side with the farmers and have the order reversed or we will take steps to see that they have no cotton to gin from now on," H. G. Lucas, committee member and president of the Texas Agricultural Association, said.

When gunners attack the validity of the Bankhead act they had no idea of the far-reaching effects, the committee asserted.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue refused to issue additional Bankhead tags after being enjoined by court order against tax collection. At present, the department has issued about 25 per cent of the tags necessary for the Texas crop.

Cotton cannot be moved without tags. Texas produces approximately 4,000,000 of the nation's 12,000,000 cotton yield.

COSTLEY, CLARK TRIAL TO CONTINUE ALL WEEK

Long-Drawn Battle on Shooting of Agent Foreseen in Federal Court.

Likelihood that the trial of J. Hudson Costley and Robert Clark on charges of assault with intent to murder a federal agent would last through the week loomed yesterday as the trial completed its second day.

Costley and Clark, a negro, who give their addresses as Congress and Corington, respectively, are accused by the federal government of shooting Thomas E. Pruett, alcohol tax unit agent, and seriously wounding him. They are being tried in federal district court here.

The shooting allegedly occurred near Conyers as Pruett revealed his identity while receiving a truckload of whisky. The agent was in critical condition for some time, but recovered.

Four witnesses have been called to testify. The principal witness, Virgil Costley, brother of J. Hudson Costley, said on the stand he had never known or heard of his brother's being engaged in the liquor business.

Questioned by prosecuting attorneys, Virgil Costley said he sold sugar, corks, bottles and jugs at his store near the scene of the alleged shooting.

The prosecution, headed by District Attorney Lawrence Camp, has summoned eight witnesses. William Schley Howard, of Decatur, chief defense attorney, has summoned 20.

Camp said yesterday he expected the trial to run "three to five days longer."

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Attend Social Functions in London

By Sally Forth.

MR. AND MRS. HUGH RICHARDSON are having experiences during their European travels that really surpass description. Sally hears that the Atlanta socialites enjoyed the presence of British royalty at numerous social functions during their three weeks' stay in London. They were among the guests invited to the tea given by Robert Bingham, United States ambassador to Great Britain, and Mrs. Bingham for the American press to the Court of St. James. Their daughter, Josephine, who was presented to King George and Queen Mary, was one of the honor guests at the tea.

Distinguished guests introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were America's minister to Sweden, Lawrence Steinhardt, and Mrs. Steinhardt, the latter having been presented at Buckingham Palace. When the Richardsons visited Stockholm they were dinner guests of Minister Steinhardt and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson enjoyed an afternoon with their friend, Lady Astor, at her home, Cliveden. Strolling through the superb gardens at Cliveden, the Atlantans recalled with their hosts former days spent in Albemarle county, Virginia when Lady Astor was Miss Nancy Langhorne. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were entertained later by Lady Astor, who ranks top place in London's political and social circles, at a musicale and supper given at her town house, No. 1 St. James square. Another American friend who enjoys top-notch social prestige in England's capital who entertained the Richardsons was Mrs. Lawson-Johnston, the former Betty Kendall, who visited Atlanta many years ago.

At Ascot, the Atlantans occupied seats in the royal enclosure presented them by Ambassador Bingham. They sat near Queen Mary and members of the royal family. They attended the same performance of "La Boheme" sung by Grace Moore at Covent Garden as did England's beloved queen.

A happy reunion with Daniel Grant was one of the pleasures experienced by the Richardsons while in London. Mr. Grant, you know, is a cousin of John W. Grant, of this city, and, as vice president of all European branches of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, is quite an important figure in Europe's capital cities.

Mrs. Richardson visited her cousins, Sir Charles and Lady Marston at their home in Sunbridge Wells while Mr. Richardson and Josephine visited Scotland. They were accompanied to the bonnie-blue-land by Anne Alston, who was presented at the British court and who is traveling abroad with Josephine and her parents. Speaking of Anne and Josephine, they had the thrill of playing golf on the renowned St. Andrews course where our own Bobby Jones won fame as the emperor of golf.

The Atlantans journeyed from England to Sweden, where they are spending a week. According to report, their real adventure comes when they take an airplane to Helsingfors, Finland, from whence they will journey to Russia.

LAST Wednesday evening a friend invited Miss Sally Long to dinner. Miss Sally wanted very much to accept, but she had a premonition that she should not. For it was "bank night" at her neighborhood movie theater.

You see, she had a feeling—a very strong feeling—that she was going to be the lucky winner of the prize that evening. And he it said the theater's credit, and also to human optimism, that one has to forego dinner or change his hour of dining to get a seat in that house on Wednesday evening. Of course, the prize is not awarded until 8:30 o'clock, but by 6 the auditorium is filled to capacity, so great is the enthusiasm over "bank night."

So Miss Sally declined the invitation and went to the movie. And would you believe it, her name was called for the $50 prize! The whole neighborhood was thrilled, for Miss Sally is a favorite, not only in her immediate vicinity, but wherever she is known.

Which reminds Sally that all Atlanta should join in paying tribute to Miss Sally, for just this week she has tendered her resignation after 42 years of instructing Atlanta children in the public schools. And no more beloved or more capable teacher has ever been connected with the school system. Thousands of children will tearfully regret her withdrawal, which will, of course, result in a well-earned rest.

Miss Sally and her sister, Miss Lena Long, will leave in September for Fort Worth, Texas, where they will spend the winter with another sister. They will be keenly missed in social and cultural circles by a host of friends who will eagerly welcome them on their return to Atlanta.

THE depression brought with it many customs that had never been practiced before, but there is one of these that Sally wasn't cognizant of until yesterday.

Parking in Atlanta has always been quite a problem, even though slightly improved by recent regulations. But one young man has found a definite solution for that problem and, at the same time, saved the family budget.

Instead of parking his vehicle in one of the downtown parking lots, which are sometimes quite expensive, he leaves the car in a one-hour zone and moves it every hour.

- TANGLED LOVE -

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

The fire in the Spanish house shed its glowing warmth for six people who sat around it and looked into it. Somehow those darting flames and the crackle of the wood stimulated thought.

Beatrice and Deems always sat close together, hand in hand. Stephen sat close to Noel—Stephen, always the companion, never the lover. When Scott was there, he sat on the divan facing Elinor. When Elinor looked into the fire, she saw herself in her wedding dress, the center of attraction.

Beatrice and Deems had bought the old Stuart house and were remodeling it. They paid Elinor an excellent price for it and Deems had finally persuaded her to invest the money in such a way as to be assured of an annuity. Elinor, characteristic of her, was all for buying a house, a house that she could go to Europe. Scott, despising the money that she flaunted in his face, felt relieved when she agreed to listen to Deems.

Tomorrow, Noel thought, sitting before the fire, was Elinor's trousseau tea. She, Noel, was pouring tea and Beatrice, the perfect hostess, would receive the guests. For the evening the house and a caterer would provide the refreshments. Next week was the wedding rehearsal and a party at the house afterward. On the 24th of August, Scott and Elinor would be married in the picturesque little church on the island and attend the reception at home before going away on Stephen's yacht.

Beatrice thought Noel had barged in. No longer was she the bored Parisian, Beatrice, who had taken a swim with her husband, put on a sturdy dress and went to the Stuart house to "annoy the builders." All the elegance with which she had surrounded herself in the past was completely out of her life. She and Deems were inseparable. One never saw one without the other.

"They're trying to make up for the years they lost," said Elinor wisely—or once in her life.

Scott looked tired tonight. He hadn't heard from Carl Hedges, the New York magazine editor, and money was bothering him. Did he have enough to meet the expenses of the wedding? The check from his publishers was not quite exhausted but the formal morning clothes made by an expensive tailor (Elinor's demand) had cost quite a lot. I'll diet for a few weeks, he thought, and Noel had gone to town with Elinor, and a green chiffon dress had been selected for her to wear as maid of honor. Beatrice, Elinor's current idol, was to be matron of honor and there were three bridesmaids who were going to wear yellow chiffon.

Beatrice said, "I'm terribly tired, Deems."

"I don't wonder, darling. One would think you were building the house."

"But it's such fun and it's going to be a wonderful place when it's finished. Will you children excuse me?"

Stephen and Deems, in a house preparing for feminine entertaining, went to town for the day. "This is too much for us," Stephen said. "I give up the house to the women."

At four o'clock that afternoon the driveway was lined with cars and the house swarmed with women and girls. Beatrice greeted them and sent them upstairs to Elinor, who proudly showed them her trousseau. Forty pairs of stockings (the result of a locking shop) 20 nightgowns, dance sets, table linens, guest towels—all displayed to good advantage. Her clothes—all save the wedding dress (it was on the third floor behind a locked door) racking outfits, dinner dresses, evening wraps, hats with impudent veils, and shoes with impudent bows.

When everything had been admired and sighed over, they went downstairs to the dining room where Noel had poured their tea. "How do you like your tea, Mrs. Penfield? Lemon?"

No sugar?" and a negro servant passed dainty sandwiches.

Beatrice was charming. Elinor was beaming. Noel thanked kind Heaven that her job of pouring tea didn't obligate her to make conversation with these strange people. She was thinking, "Scott is coming down today to live in the room next to mine. I'll hear him working. I won't go in. He'll hear me walking at night, but he won't know why."

The guests did not linger long. They told Elinor her things were beautiful—which indeed they were—and that she had excellent taste.

Elinor had never looked lovelier. One dowager said, "You'll make a beautiful bride, my dear, with your yellow hair," and Elinor was so pleased she could have wept. When the last guest had departed and the last car had driven away, Beatrice came in the dining room.

"I'm simply starved," she said. "Building a house and being a hostess gives one an appetite. Everything went off beautifully. All your friends sighed over the white negligee with the ostrich plumes."

"I'm so tired," said Elinor. "At least on the yacht I can rest. Parties are being given for me every afternoon until the wedding. Isn't it wonderful? People have been so generous."

"When it's over..." said Beatrice.

"Don't think of it. I want it to last forever. I'd like to have a wedding every year. I love it."

"Would you expect me to pour 125 cups of tea? Please!"

Elinor went upstairs.

"Isn't it a pity," said Beatrice, "that Elinor can't have a wedding without a bridegroom? I know she hasn't thought of Scott all afternoon. Poor Elinor. We should pity her. Noel for being so wrong."

It was late summer twilight when Noel went to her room. She lay on the chaise-longue so exhausted she didn't hear a car as it stopped in the driveway.

I simply ache from weariness. I love being tired physically; it makes me sleep so well."

Scott said, "I guess I'll be going back to town."

"Why not stay down?" Stephen suggested helpfully. "It's only two weeks before the wedding. You can't write with that on your mind. Bring down all your clothes and writing materials down tomorrow. The room next to Noel's has a big desk and plenty of sunlight."

"Splendid idea," said Deems. "Why not?"

Scott smiled.

"You don't have to insist. There really isn't any reason for my staying in town anyway. I'll bring my things down tomorrow."

"And arrive," said Beatrice, smiling, "in the mist of a trousseau tea."

"But vanish before I'm seen."

He said good night and Elinor went with him to the car. Upstairs Noel heard his car drive away.

For several nights she had been unable to sleep. She put the green chiffon dress out of her sight. When every one in the house was asleep, she would be by the window, resting her bare elbows on the sill, looking over the water until dawn. "Another day—that brings that, day nearer. This is so unfair to Stephen, to Deems and Beatrice. They've been so good to me. But that day, when I walk down the aisle and see Scott waiting for Elinor, it will be like a pronouncement of death."

But in the morning no one knew of that lonely vigil. It was the day of the trousseau tea and the house buzzed with excitement. So busy was Beatrice that she did not visit her new house. Flowers came to decorate every nook and corner of the house. The caterer and the chef rearranged over the color of the edelweiss. Elinor was arranging her clothes, her linens, and her lingerie for the critical inspection of her friends.

Stephen and Deems, in a house preparing for feminine entertaining, went to town for the day. "This is too much for us," Stephen said. "I give up the house to the women."

At four o'clock that afternoon the driveway was lined with cars and the house swarmed with women and girls. UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE AZTEC CALENDAR STONE.

Among the sights of Mexico City is the famous Calendar Stone. It was cut from volcanic rock by Aztec Indians, and the work was done more than four centuries ago, during the reign of the Aztec ruler, Montezuma II.

Aztec tribes were in control of Mexico when it was invaded by the Spaniards. The present name of the country is believed to have come from an old Aztec word, which was called "Mexitli" or "Mexitli." It is easy to see how this name could have been changed to "Mexico."

The Calendar Stone is on view in a museum in Mexico City. On it is carved a great circular figure in the shape of the sun; and the width of the figure is 12 feet.

The stone is composed of volcanic rock, and weighs 20 tons as it exists today. The rock appears to have been obtained from a quarry several miles from Mexico City, and it is estimated that before the carving was done, the rough block weighed from 40 to 50 tons.

It may be that the rock was cut down before it was removed from the quarry; but, in any case, it was too heavy for people to lift. There were no oxen or other large beasts of burden in Mexico before the white men came, so it must have been moved with the help of rollers of some kind.

An artist once made an amusing attempt to explain the moving of the Calendar Stone. He showed the great hairy elephants known as mastodons at work, taking the stone block from the quarry to the place it was to be set up.

The artist knew that there were once mastodons on our continent; but he made a mistake, since all the mastodons died out many hundreds, perhaps thousands, of years before the Calendar Stone was moved.

Judging from methods known to have been used in Mexico for moving other large blocks of stone, we may suppose that the Calendar Stone was rolled over large logs, ropes being fastened around it and pulled by men.

At the center of the Calendar Stone is a picture or symbol of the sun god, with the rest of the carving, it tells the Aztec story of "the world's history."

The Aztecs declared that four suns had existed before the one they saw in the sky. The first sun was the great star, which was destroyed by a jaguar, the second by a whirlwind, the third by a rain of fire, and the fourth by a flood.

It was believed that the fifth sun would be destroyed by an earthquake.

DOES YOUR HUSBAND CALL YOU GROUCHY?

He's truthful if not tactful. Manlike, he is bewildered by your offishness and irritability. He can't understand what you have to be blue about. He wishes that you'd snap out of it. He'd do Mrs. Barbara Spears anything he could to help you. If he knew how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was, he'd go straight to the nearest drug store and buy you a bottle.

"My husband says I am my old self again," says Mrs. Barbara Spears, 799 Elma Street, Akron, Ohio. "I was tired and all in with no appetite. Had no pep and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated that awful tired feeling."

Don't try your husband's patience too far. Get a bottle from your druggist NOW. It probably will help you, because nearly a million American women know from personal experience that it helps them.

Many Clothes, Little Sleep, Little Water Are Hard on Babies

By FLORENCE LA GANKE.

Such a cross baby as Lois had on her hands. The hot weather and teething made John David as irritable as Lois had ever known him. He fretted from early morning until late at night.

Lois discovered that he was broken out with a prickly heat rash. That was the first cause of his irritation.

She bathed him in clear cold water and then dusted him with plain odorless talcum.

She found that the skin in the folds and creases was inflamed. The doctor had told her that skin in such condition should not be bathed in water. That meant she gave him the sponge bath for prickly heat, but was careful to have no water touch the inflamed skin. This was rubbed with sweet oil and dusted with fine cornstarch. Had the inflammation been worse she would have used zinc ointment. If a day's use of that had not bettered the condition she would have called the doctor.

Next she found that his mouth was hot and sore. She gave him plenty of pure water to drink. She had the water slightly chilled but not icy cold.

Then she removed almost all his clothing and let him kick and move around with the minimum of clothing.

By the time she had done all these

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

One Woman Wants Hair Dye and Another Prays for Gray Hair

By MIGNON.

"Dear Mignon: On Tuesday, April 16, 1935, you wrote an article which I read with great interest on warning not to dye the hair."

"I have just that problem and am only happy when I do not think of it. I have held off dye by using a harmless rinse, which no longer answers the purpose as I am getting gray so fast, and when it comes in our family it turns gray in short order until it is snow white."

"Am 40 years old, but look only 35, as that, too, is inherited in the family to look younger than we are, as well as to have snow-white hair."

"I have been going with a man the same age as myself for the last three years, and he has no idea of how my hair is turning gray, because of the rinse I have used, but as I say, I can no longer hide it only with dye, and that I hesitate to do after reading all you have to say about it. But do you think that will make any difference with him, or should I dye it on account of him?"

"You state 'do not write,' but I do hope you will answer this in your column. I will be watching for the answer, as I know it will help other women as well as myself."

If your man's affection is held only by the color of your hair I am afraid your matrimonial venture is going to be a sad one. I think more than likely you undertake this love for you. I still urge you do not dye your hair. Strange enough, the same mail brought me a letter from a woman who says she has a fair skin and wants very much to have iron gray hair, because she thinks it is so beautiful and so striking, and what can she do to make her hair turn gray?"

I can tell you honestly that women who have tried both the dye and letting nature take its course will tell you that you will be a much lovelier woman if you let hair dye alone. Simply take the most exquisite care of your gray hair. Don't use a rinse, don't use a dye. Wash your hair once every week; dry it by hand if possible. If you have it set in waves use a thin setting lotion so that your hair will not be too stiffly set. Encourage softness all you can.

If your hair has a tendency to turn yellow after it gets to be white always use a bluing rinse after a shampoo. French blue seems to be the most satisfactory; at least I find it so. This must be done carefully. I always test the bluing water with the end of a white towel to see if it is too deep or too purple in shade. If it leaves the linen nice and white I know that is what it will do to hair. I can tell you what this bluing is that I use, and you may try it if you like.

If your hair is inclined to be dry after a shampoo always use a bit of thin brilliantine on it, using it very sparingly to give a gloss to the hair but not enough to make it oily. Then brush well. The shine after the hair is curled will be quite beautiful. Always keep hair brushes scrupulously clean.

In using the brilliantine tip the bottle and get just a drop on your palm. Rub your hands together and then run them gently over the surface of your hair.

If you use an iron don't use it too hot, as too much heat has a tendency to yellow the hair.

If you use combs or pins or other curlers I can tell you of a grand, thin, curling lotion about the consistency of water with which to dampen the hair before "setting" the curls and waves. It helps to make the hair stay curled, and I have known people whose hair actually became curly after using it constantly. I don't mean fuzzy, but wavy.

Again, from the bottom of my kind heart, I ask you to let hair dye alone. Your young man will think better of you if you do. He will probably think you look mighty distinguished if you take care of your white locks.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column please Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

things he seemed to be feeling better. She found that there was too much light in his room when he tried to sleep. That was obviated by putting a screen some distance from the window so that air and breeze could come in, but light was partially shut out. And then in the doorway where it caught the currents of air she hung a moistened sheet. As this dried it cooled the air. John David seemed to appreciate all these efforts for within three days' time he seemed a much happier child. And certainly Lois was a happier mother.

Nancy has a leaflet on "Child Care," which she will send on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write her care of The Atlanta Constitution.

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS No 135

With utter disregard for his own safety, Tarzan rushed toward the battle of his warriors and the slave-raiders. Now, to his delight, he saw that the Alexandrians had fallen upon the enemy before the shifas had had time to reload their muskets after the last volley.

But under Nasir's cool command, the brigades, at close quarters with the soldiers, were wielding their muskets as giant clubs. On his swift journey to the fray, Tarzan seized the gun of one of the fallen shifas and plowed into the fight swinging it lustily.

Swords clashed against rifle stocks. Spears were thrust and parried. Heads cracked. Blood flowed. Men fell and staggered to their feet to fight again. And above the din rose the hoarse shouts of combatants. This indeed was a battle to the death!

The long muskets of the shifas prevented the soldiers from making the most effective use of their weapons; and the wily methods of the Arabs compensated for the bold strength of the Alexandrians. No man could foresee the outcome of this bloody conflict!

POLITICAL STALWARTS PARADED AT CAPITAL

Robinson Voices Democratic Reply to Radio Speech of Henry Fletcher.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(P)—Political stalwarts were exercised freely in the capital today following last night's republican projection of "the New Deal vs. the constitution" as a 1936 campaign issue.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, was the medium through which the democratic national committee made a chiding reply to Republican Chairman Henry P. Fletcher's radio talk.

Listing republican senators who voted for the Wagner labor bill, one of the measures cited by Fletcher in his argument that the administration is trying to "subvert or pervert the constitution," Robinson said:

"As a democrat, I am not surprised at the republican chairman declaring my party as lawless, wicked and generally vicious, but I must protest that Mr. Fletcher should not as a senator of the United States, and as a member of his own party."

In the Senate, however, replying to a speech which Robinson made recently in Arkansas, Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware, called the roll of democrats who had voted against the administration this session.

Meanwhile, in the House, Representative Fish, democrat, New York, charged the administration with repudiating the democratic platform and rushing through unconstitutional legislation.

Asserting that a "republican stop-gap chairman needs no legal background to arraign a democratic administration," Robinson said:

"I notice that among those who voted for this (Wagner) bill is that wild radical, my friend, Senator Barbour, republican, of New Jersey. Also, Senator Borah, of Idaho, who is a fellow of the G. O. P. describe as the greatest constitutional lawyer in the Senate; Senator McNary, republican leader, who some people think will be the republican nominee for President next year, and that firebrand, Senator White, of the reckless old state of Maine. I might add Capper, of Kansas; Hiram Johnson, of California; La Follette, Shipstead and Steiwer, of Oregon."

No compromise, Hastings, who earlier had declared "there can be no compromise with the New Deal," took the floor to respond to Robinson's Arkansas charge that some "disgruntled democrats" and regular republicans were in a conspiracy to discredit the administration.

Asserting that "complaints" against Roosevelt policies were "very much deeper than that," Hastings said 19 "disgruntled democrats" voted against the administration in the prevailing wage-relief bill fight, 18 on final passage of the holding company bill, 29 on the direct issue between dissolution and regulation of holding companies, 29 on the Wagner bill and nine on the AAA amendments.

Well-wishers remind Ford of 72nd birthday

RIG BAY, Mich., July 30.—(P)—Scores of congratulatory messages reminded Henry Ford of his 72nd birthday today, although his Huron Mountain Club retreat is far from the telephone or telegraph wire.

A messenger was kept busy traversing the 15 miles of unimproved road that leads from this upper peninsula village to Ford's summer vacation spot on Lake Superior. There he can "rough it" in almost primitive wilderness, or enjoy the luxuries of a modern 16-room lodge, as the mood impels him.

As You Wish.

Q. Please tell me if we can paste our Book Game pictures in a note book to send them in at the end of the contest. Also, if you have any more copies of "What to Read."

A. The pictures may be pasted in a note book if you wish. Additional copies of "What to Read" have been received from the publishers. We will keep this book on hand right through the Book Game. It may be obtained at The Constitution office for 50 cents, or by mail for 54 cents.
